Ngubitj by Billy-Jay O'Toole (Papul Art)

Ngubitj (Water)

Ngubitj is the traditional name for 'Water' on Wadawurrung country the artwork here shows all the river and creek systems intertwining across Country, water is the life blood of country when our waterways are flowing our Country is thriving, the circles represent places of gathering close to these rivers, creeks and waterholes on Country, when aboriginal people gather they always gathered in circles to always have eyes on the knowledge holder/elders speaking, the many resources available provided a sustainable living landscape for Wadawurrung people for thousands of generations.
